Our Mission
AIDS Services Foundation Orange County’s mission is to prevent the spread of HIV and improve the lives of men, women, and children affected by HIV/AIDS in Orange County.

Our Story
A small group of volunteers founded AIDS Services Foundation, Orange County (ASF) in late summer 1985, because people were dying, desperately needed help, and had nowhere to turn. ASF is now the largest and most comprehensive not-for-profit AIDS-service organization in Orange County, with a staff of over 60 committed and caring individuals, a 21-member board of directors and hundreds of dedicated volunteers. AIDS Services Foundation, Orange County helps more than 1,500 men, women, children, and families in Orange County living with HIV disease. Services include food, transportation, housing, emergency financial assistance, kids and family programs, mental health counseling, support groups and HIV education and prevention services. We hope for the day when we will never have to open our doors again. Until then, we work hard to ensure everyone living with HIV and AIDS in Orange County has access to life enhancing care and prevent its spread.

Embracing change

If you look at any great institution, it succeeds because of the strength of its structure, not because of the charisma or power of its leadership.

A good leader propels an organization forward, just as a poor leader creates no momentum at all; neither one can make or break a truly stable institution. The United States of America remains strong and vital, not because of its leaders, but because the Constitution is more respected than any President. It is a living document. It is malleable. It adapts to change. That was my goal for ASF: to make it able to change as the HIV epidemic changes; to make it able to survive when an Executive Director or Board President moves on; to make its mission statement the ultimate beacon of its leadership.

Last month Alan Witchey, our Executive Director of five years, moved back to Indianapolis with his family. His choice saddened us, but we understood it and respected it. Alan embraced the changes he needed to make. He made the correct choice for the sake of his family. He was a great and charismatic leader for ASF. As our E.D., he propelled us forward. We grew under his direction. He will be missed, but we have continued to do what we do… without missing a beat. In his place we have chosen Phil Yaeger, a man who has been with ASF for fifteen years. He has witnessed first-hand the growth of ASF. I know that Phil will also be an outstanding Executive Director. I see it in his passion for this cause. I know that he will bring exciting and timely changes to ASF. I welcome it. Let us welcome him.

This treacherous virus changes in order to survive. ASF will change, when needed, right along with it. In nature it is the species that does not change that perishes. At ASF, we intend to be here, changing and surviving, as long as it takes to defeat this virus. Change is not just important, it is essential.

An Interview with Phil Yaeger, Executive Director

When you were a kid, what did you want to do when you grew up? Did you ever think that you would be an Executive Director for a large nonprofit?

Like many other kids, I wanted to be an astronaut. However, as I got older I learned that I enjoyed helping people and knew that I wanted a job that allowed me to work directly with people. I am honored to now have the opportunity to lead an organization that does so much good in the community and provides invaluable services to so many wonderful people.

How did you first get involved with ASF?

I first got involved with ASF as a volunteer in 1993. A friend of my family had passed away from AIDS without support of his friends because of the stigma that was associated with HIV and AIDS at the time. I wanted to do something to help make life a little easier for people who were dying from AIDS.

Looking back on the 15 years you’ve been with ASF, what are you most proud of?

Looking back on the past 15 years, one of the things that I’m most proud of is my role in the development of Casa Alegre. The 22 unit apartment building in Anaheim will provide safe and affordable housing for disabled, homeless individuals living with HIV for many years to come. The other accomplishment that I’m very proud of is my role in the development of ASF’s CDC-funded MpowerOC project. The project has been instrumental in preventing countless young men in Orange County from getting infected with HIV.

What do you find most rewarding about working with ASF?

What I find most rewarding about working with ASF is knowing that through service to my community I am having a positive impact in the lives of others.

What will your years of experience with ASF help bring to the future of the agency?

I feel that my years of experience with ASF brings a comprehensive history of where the agency has come from, a clear understanding of where the agency is today, and a conceptual vision of where the agency can be in the future.

Where do you hope to see the agency in 10 years?

Of course, I hope in ten years that ASF would have closed its doors because our services were no longer needed. However, I realize that this probably will not be the case. One of the things that ASF has done so well over the years has been to create and modify services to meet the changing needs of our clients. I think ASF must continue to look for ways to meet the changing needs of people living with HIV in Orange County. My hope is that ASF will continue to lead the way in providing innovative ways to best serve the thousands of men, women, and children affected by HIV/AIDS in Orange County.
Just Call Him Willie…

The first time I met Willie almost five years ago, I tried to pronounce his name, Wiroj Ingkapattanakul, I was not able to do so. I said to him, “Your last name is very long,” and he replied back to me with that wicked sense of humor, “No, it is not very long, it is Ingkapattanakul. Just call me Willie.” He made me laugh.

Throughout time, I realized that not only did he have a great sense of humor but an ability to help all staff accomplish their job. For over 8 years, Willie has been a pivotal driving force behind the Finance and Accounting Department. As a direct services provider, I understand very little about accounting books, payrolls, etc. He has always been there to help all his staff in accomplishing their work and meeting deadlines. He truly transformed the entire accounting department by providing it with a strong structure. He not only did that, he also taught us to save pennies and dollars throughout the entire organization. He was always thinking creatively on how to save money for the organization in order to help provide more direct services to our dear clients by conserving power, stationary supplies, and by saving a little here and there.

He not only possesses an ability to convince people that they can achieve anything, but an ability to help our clients by volunteering at events such as Family Camp, Noches de Feria, and helping to paint walls in common office areas and for staff members’ offices. Willie not only holds a Master Degree in Business Administration, but a Masters Degree in baking the best goodies and Thai food, a Masters in making people laugh, and a Masters in getting the job done no matter what it takes. He always says to his staff that the work they do impacts all clients that we serve in a tremendous manner.

Willie will be missed greatly; our clients are going to miss him greatly. We know that ASF is losing one of the best warriors against HIV disease in Orange County, but we also know that Thailand is getting back one of their best assets.

Dear Wiroj, you will always be missed.

OC AIDS Walk Returns to Angel Stadium of Anaheim

The bases will be loaded as over 8,000 participants step up to the plate on Saturday, May 10th for the 22nd Annual OC AIDS Walk at Angel Stadium of Anaheim. The Walk expects to raise a Grand Slam $750,000.

As registration begins at 7am, walkers can wake up with the “Blessing of the Shoes” interfaith services. Next, the festivities will kick-off as NBC4’s Today In L.A. Robert Kovacik and legendary KLOS DJ Cynthia Fox return once again to proudly MC the opening ceremonies. The Walk begins at 9am as walkers gather at the starting line in front of Angel Stadium of Anaheim to begin their journey. Along the way, participants will be cheered from festively adorned water stations along the route, each bearing their own unique theme.

Walkers will also get the opportunity to enjoy various bands playing on both the main stage and the OC Weekly Stage located under the Big A.

After the Walk, walkers can stuff their faces in the 4th Annual Pie Eating Contest. The day will conclude at noon with the closing ceremonies. “This year’s Walk promises to be a spiritually uplifting event that will offer moments for reflection while educating people about the history and prevalence of HIV/AIDS in the community,” said Phil Yaeger, Executive Director for AIDS Services Foundation Orange County.

Participants will also have the opportunity to sample gourmet food selections from various food sponsors including Ralph Brennan’s Jazz Kitchen, Dave & Busters, Wienerschnitzel, Original Tommy’s World Famous Hamburger, and Bistro 400.

“As a restaurant committed to giving back to our community, The Jazz Kitchen is excited to be involved with OC AIDS Walk and will proudly serve umboYa-Ya to all the participants and hardworking volunteers who make this event a great success,” said Ralph Brennan’s Jazz Kitchen.

Proceeds from OC AIDS Walk will go to benefit ten agencies located in Orange County. These ten agencies assist more than 8,000 men, women and children affected by HIV/AIDS through programs such as counseling, transportation, housing, food and accessibility to medical care. Over 75% of all funds raised at OC AIDS Walk go directly towards programs and services for the clients.

CUTS for a Cause by Elise Herrera-Green

For some a haircut is a chore, for others it’s an outlet to express themselves in a small way, and for one day a haircut can be the way to save a life. The 2nd Annual Cut-a-Thon will take place Sunday, May 4th from 10am – 3pm. For just one day, enthusiastic clients can join together with top stylists from all over Southern California for the most important haircuts to be given and received—ones that help save lives. Stylists from various salons in the Southern California area will be present at Paul Mitchell the School in Costa Mesa to provide professional haircuts for only $20 and eyebrow shaping and waxing for $15. All proceeds from the Cut-a-Thon will graciously be donated by Paul Mitchell The School in Costa Mesa to the 22nd Annual OC AIDS Walk.

The day will be filled with patrons eager to attain stylish looks for a great cause. In addition to stylists cutting hair and waxing eyebrows, OC Weekly will be on hand along with various radio stations to ensure that the day be filled with fun and enjoyable activities including a raffle of which many great prizes will be handed out throughout the day. “Last year’s Cut-a-Thon was very fun; it was amazing to see so many people come and give their support,” said Diana Pahl, Events Coordinator for AIDS Services Foundation Orange County.

To schedule an appointment for the Cut-A-Thon to benefit the 22nd Annual OC AIDS Walk, e-mail tmartin@ocasf.org or call, (949) 809-8764.

Men Alive - The Orange County Gay Men’s Chorus proudly welcomes the incomparable Bernadette Peters as their very special guest for their season finale at the Orange County Performing Arts Center on Saturday, May 31. Celebrating the music and magic of the Big Apple, the concert entitled New York City Rhythm! will visit The Met (yes, opera their way!) and journey through the greatest musicals of Broadway. With Bernadette Peters (legendary singer, Tony Award-winning actress, and Broadway’s brightest star) performing with the Chorus some of the best tunes from the Great White Way as only she knows how, the chorus promises it will be their most exciting and awesome show yet.

“New York is a center for just about every musical style imaginable, but it is especially well known for hosting the best of opera and for being the birthplace of musical theatre,” said Men Alive’s artistic director, Rich Cook. “This season, we have visited Chicago, Hollywood, Las Vegas, and we just had to end up in New York City.”

The 120 voice chorus will present the concert in its own unique style, with dancers and movement, hilarious skits, and unique approaches to traditional musical genres. Asked for concert highlights, Cook cited music from Dreamgirls; a hilarious and unique approach to the “Figaro song” (Largo al Factotum) from The Barber of Seville; another very funny song, “There! Right There!” from the current Broadway hit, Legally Blonde; and an important song for the lives of the lesbian and gay community, “We Kiss in a Shadow,” from Rodgers & Hammerstein’s classic The King and I.

New York City Rhythm has two performances, 3pm & 8pm, on Saturday May 31 at the Orange County Performing Arts Center’s Segerstrom Hall (that’s the original, main theatre). Tickets are currently on sale through the OCPAC Box Office at 714-556-2787, and on their website www.OCPAC.org. Ticket prices are $35 through $55. For more information about the Chorus and the show, visit www.MenAliveChorus.org.

ASF & Libreria Martinez present Latino Community Forum on HIV/AIDS

“It is not just a lack of education that leads to the rise of HIV/AIDS in the Latino community; it is a number of factors. Cultural barriers, religious beliefs, and lack of involvement that are also contributing to the increasing number of HIV/AIDS in our community,” said Andrea Arguello-Coulson, Latino Community Outreach Co-ordinator for AIDS Services Foundation Orange County and speaker at the Latino Community Forum on HIV/AIDS.

The Latino Community Forum was held last week at Libreria Martinez bookstore located in Santa Ana, and addressed many of the rising concerns felt within the Latino community of Orange County. These concerns included cultural barriers of the Latino community in terms of religion and family beliefs, lack of involvement from the Latino community, and lack of education on the topic of HIV/AIDS.

Leading off the Latino Community Forum on HIV/AIDS was Jorge Rodriguez M.D., President of the Board of Directors for AIDS Services Foundation Orange County. He began the forum with a welcome to all those in attendance and a thank you for taking a vested interest in how to slow down and someday cease a growing problem happening within the Latino community of Orange County.

Philip Yaeger, Executive Director of AIDS Services Foundation Orange County, provided a background of the agency and what services are being offered by the agency to help address the rising numbers of Latinos diagnosed with HIV/AIDS from the Orange County community. “The Latino population represents 47% of our clientele, so we know that there is a need to address what is happening within the Latino population. Forums such as this are an excellent way to begin tackling the climbing numbers,” said Yaeger.

Clients of AIDS Services Foundation were also on hand to share their stories with those in attendance. Client speaker Kelly Gomez spoke of how she went into the doctor’s office for a leg injury, was asked to have a HIV test, and came out positive. Seeing the need to educate those who are unaware, Gomez shares the story of her struggle with AIDS.

While Gomez provided a real life account and a look into the world of HIV/AIDS, Martin Salas, Director of Prevention Services and Health Education for AIDS Services Foundation, provided a look into the facts and presented those in attendance with a run down of how HIV/AIDS works and how to prevent its spread.

Speaking last, Andrea Arguello-Coulson spoke about the statistics regarding HIV/AIDS in the Latino Community. Statistics such as ‘Latinos representing 52% of newly diagnosed AIDS cases in Orange County’ shocked attendees. Arguello-Coulson also addressed the affect HIV/AIDS is having on the female population in the Latino community of Orange County. “Forums such as this are so important because they allow us to come together to speak and ask questions, which in turn allows us to learn” said Arguello-Coulson.
